DEVOTED TO THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

VOL. VIII.

GLENDALE (LOS ANGELES POSTOFFICE), LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1913

NO. 49

MEETING OF CITY TRUSTEES.

Pursuant to motion of adjournment made March 17, 1913, the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale met in regular adjourned session at the city hall at 7 p. m., Thursday evening, March 20, 1913. The usual demands were allowed.

An ordinance amending Ordinance 184 of the City of Glendale entitled, "An Ordinance of the City of Glendale providing for the issuing of bonds of the City of Glendale as follows:

First. In the sum of $20,000 for the further acquisition of fire apparatus and facilities. Second. In the sum of $5,000 for the acquisition of street building and improvement apparatus and facilities. On motion this ordinance was declared read for the first time and taken up for its second reading. On motion this ordinance was declared read, for second time and laid over for third and final reading.

A complaint from Albert G. and Milton Hesse that the Miradero Water Co. refused to make connections to supply water service to their property on Maryland avenue unless payment of $15 for each connection was paid in advance for same.

Trustee Tower offered Resolution No. 568, a resolution of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, directing the chairman of the Board of Trustees of said city to prepare and file with the Railroad Commission of the State of California a formal complaint against the Miradero Water Co., a corporation, requesting said Railroad Commission to make and issue an order against said Water Company compelling it to make service connections for various consumers located on its water-distributing system in the City of Glendale. The resolution was adopted.

At this meeting were present a number of the citizens of Vine street, who had offered a protest as to the finished condition of the street adjoining their property after work had been completed by the contractor. A lengthy discussion was engaged in by the citizens, the trustees and others concerned. The board showed an anxiousness that favored doing what is fair in the matter, and the Vine street residents seemed satisfied that the Trustees will eventually get a good road. The question was postponed until Monday evening, March 24, for a further hearing.

Regular Meeting.

The Board of Trustees convened in regular session, Monday evening, March 24, all members of the board being present.

Under the head of communications a request was made by the Commonwealth Engineering Co. that said company be permitted to place before the board a reinforced concrete bridge design, which represents a bridge that would be suitable for the Canada boulevard.

The Vine street protest was again taken up. Contractor McCoombs through the city stated he was ready to guarantee that street would be put in good condition, by giving a $500 certified check. The question was postponed until Thursday evening, March 27.

An ordinance published elsewhere explains the action taken by the board concerning the change of name of Alexandria avenue to Milford street.

A communication from Health Officer, Dr. Chase, concerning the recent presence of a mad dog was received. The Board of Trustees unanimously voted that an order requiring that for ninety days all dogs be muzzled. The order is published elsewhere in this issue.

The board voted that Saturday, April 5, 1913, be set aside as Clean-up Day in the city of Glendale.

Board adjourned to meet Thursday evening, March 27, at 7 o'clock.

MR. GATES ENTERTAINS.

The shorthand class of the High School were guests of Mr. C. L. Gates at his home, 114 S. Maryland avenue, on Saturday evening. A good time was enjoyed by the young folks, with games, music, etc. Mr. Gates was at one time teacher of the Indians at the Sherman Institute, and has many Indian baskets and other curios in his home, all of which were exhibited to the boys and girls. Mr. Gates' menu cards were quite striking, in red and white, tied with tinsel cord and typewritten. Following was the menu, original as to composition:

Solid Substantial Supper Served by Shorthand Sisters.

Solids—Soul-satisfying sandwiches, smoothly spread, slightly salted, scientifically-shaped.

Side—Sister Snell's sensible sour pickles, sharpening appetite soon as swallowed.

Sister Sophia's salad, something suited to slow or spry.

Sweet—Sister Sabina's scrumptious sweetbread, sliced superbly thin.

Sips—Specially selected coffee, steamed, strained, sufficiently strong, sweetened with sugar, and served with skillfully skimmed cream.

SPRING-TIME WEDDING.

On Monday evening, March 24, at 8:30 o'clock, Pearl Cleo Goode and William T. Livingston were united in holy matrimony at the home of the bride's parents, 329 Cedar street.

Seventy-five friends and relatives from far and near gathered together in the prettily decorated home. The parlor was a bower of spring fruit blossoms and trailing greenery, with festoons of white satin ribbon, while rustic baskets overflowing with graceful bridal wreath made an effective picture. Suspended from chandeliers and archways were dainty white wedding bells.

The dining-room was quaintly and most artistically converted into a veritable field of yellow wild flowers, with banks of wild mustard and spring-time blossoms. Other rooms were charming in pink peach blossoms and boughs of golden-acacia.

At half after eight o'clock the guests parted to form a pathway through two long rooms, down which the bridal party slowly advanced to the measures of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Katherine Meyers of Highland Park. The bride was attended by Miss Emily Ellis of Tropic and the groom by Mr. Leo Goode, brother of the bride. The maid-of-honor was quaintly attired in pale green satin with over-dress of pink Dresden chiffon, and carried an arm bouquet of pink peach blossoms tied with a butterfly bow of pink gauze. The bride was exquisitely gowned in white satin with over-drape of white chiffon and crystal. She carried a shiver bouquet of white plum blossoms with orange blossoms and fern tied with white satin and tulle. The bridal couple stood beneath a lover's knot fern and bridal wreath which supported a white wedding bell, where, accompanied by soft strains of music the beautiful ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Lloyd Jenkins of the Congregational church, Los Angeles.

Following a brief informal reception, during which Mr. and Mrs. Livingston were showered with congratulations, a delicious wedding supper was served. The happy couple then left for a brief wedding tour, after which they will be at home to their friends at their future residence on East Third street.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Goode, who for the last twenty-eight years have made their home in our valley. Mrs. Livingston graduated with the class of 1911 from Glendale Union High School and is widely and popularly known throughout the local circles of young people. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Livingston of 430 South Jackson street, who came to Glendale two years ago from Cincinnati, Ohio. He, also, is well known as a student of Glendale Union High School.

The popularity of both is attested by the beautiful collection of gifts with which they were remembered. The wedding ceremony terminated a long series of pretty social events which have been given in the bride's honor.

SOME RAILROAD NEWS.

No grass is growing under the feet of the members of the railroad committee, or rather, the few members of the committee who are working. The east side railroad situation is an old one, but now that it has come to life, the progress of the committee might prove welcome news.

At this time the legal department of the Pacific Electric company is preparing the application for a franchise along that section of Broadway that will be traversed by the line, this being from a point near Everett street west to Glendale avenue. The company's surveyors are establishing a definite route for the proposed line, and until this definite right of way is ascertained and the legal definition of the location of the right of way in reference to the various pieces of property is fixed the work of securing options on the different strips of land cannot be completed.

Quite a number of the residents along the proposed right of way have called this week at the railroad headquarters, Glendale avenue and Broadway, wanting to know what their assessment amounts to and offering to pay the same whenever it is called for. When the options have been secured the rate of assessment will be announced.

MT. LOWE VISITORS.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Legrand enjoyed a delightful week-end at Mt. Lowe. The lights on Saturday night were especially beautiful and could be seen as far distant as Catalina. There was a light fall of snow on the mountain Sunday morning at seven o'clock, which gave the visitors a bit of "the weather back home." A trip by horse to the top of the mountain was also one of the interesting features.

Other visitors from Glendale were Mr. Otto Amberg and Miss Amberg.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale held its regular meeting at Masonic Hall last Tuesday, Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, chairman of the Philanthropic committee, having charge.

Mrs. Elizabeth Strong spoke on "Current Events," urging the women of today, with so many privileges, to keep step with the march of progress and endeavor to reach the highest efficiency.

Mrs. William Baurhyte told of the good work being done by the Maternity Cottage; how the delicate, sickly women and babies were properly cared for. Mrs. Baurhyte, however, lamented the fact that there was no home for well, able-bodied babies whose mothers were forced to earn a livelihood, and urged the necessity of an endowment fund for such an institution.

Mrs. M. Coleman discussed the always interesting subject of "Social Settlement Work," the wonderful progress made and the gratifying moral uplift brought about by these tireless workers.

Professor Millet entertained the club ladies with several selections on the violin, which received enthusiastic applause, especially the "Gypsy Rondo" by Haydn and the "Sara-band" and "Gigue" by Corelli, concluding with a variation of "Home, Sweet Home."

Mrs. Frank Grosvenor's young son Steve Beebe, gave the "Euterpe" by Greenwald, on the violin. This was Master Steve's first public appearance and the ladies present unanimously prophesied a brilliant future for the young violinist. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones played the accompaniments.

Miss Esther Sinclair gave an animated reading of Riley's "Bear Family" and gave as an encore "Dicky and the Clock" by the same author.

Tea and cake was served by the ladies of the Philanthropic committee. The next meeting of the club will be on April 8, and will be "Drama Day," reading by Charles Gyllin.

The Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met at the home of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones last Thursday and the study of French music of the 17th and 18th centuries was resumed. Mrs. William Herman West read an interesting paper on Jean Baptiste Lully, with piano illustrations by Mrs. Jones. Mrs. E. C. Shiner's article on Jean-Philippe Rameau was especially good and showed close application and research. "The curator gave piano illustrations, and explained the origin of the Gavotte. Mrs. Frank Grosvenor enlightened the section with an article on the "French Ballet and Opera."

The following interesting Victrola program was given:

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-----------------|
| Violin..... | Micha Elman |
| (1) Gavotte..... | Cretry |
| (2) Tambourin..... | Gossec |
| Gavotte from "Mignon"..... | Thomas |
| Voal..... | Tetrazzini |
| Polonaise "Mignon"..... | Thomas |
| Violin..... | Fritz Kreisler |
| Tambourin..... | Rameau-Kreisler |
| Victrola Orchestra— | |
| La Source Ballet..... | Delibes |
| (1) Scarf Dance..... | |
| (2) Scene D'Amour..... | |
| (3) Variation..... | |
| (4) Dance Circassienne..... | |

Unusual interest is being taken by the members of this section and remarkable progress has been made, due largely to the great enthusiasm shown by Mrs. Jones, the curator. French opera of the 18th century will be taken up at the next meeting of April.

Mrs. Frank Grosvenor will entertain at her home, 347 Mt. View street, Los Angeles, the members of the Literary Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, at a 12 o'clock luncheon, on April 1. Luncheon will be followed by the literary program, Mrs. Edgar Leavitt in charge.

"SPRING SHOWER."

Another pretty event was added to the series of social affairs being given this spring in honor of Miss Frances Humphrey, a bride of this week, when Mrs. John Danford of Fifth street entertained in her honor with a china shower on Saturday afternoon.

A dainty color scheme was delightfully carried out in palest shades of blue.

Needlework for the bride furnished a pleasant afternoon's occupation, after which the guests were sent on a heart hunt, the one finding the most hearts to be duly rewarded. The honor guest was sent in search of a large blue heart, which was discovered hiding the fireplace. It was removed to reveal the fireplace transformed into a dainty blue nest piled high with interesting packages, which when opened disclosed many handsome pieces of hand-painted and imported china and art pottery. Miss Marion Henry received the prize for gathering the most hearts.

Light refreshments were then prettily served, after which the remainder of the happy occasion was devoted to music and readings.

EASTER-WEEK WEDDING.

The First Methodist Episcopal church of Glendale was never more picturesquely adorned than on the evening of Wednesday, March 26th, when Frances Lucile Humphrey and Robert Royal McDonald were united in marriage. The altar was hidden with banks of palms and ferns and boughs of pink peach blossoms gracefully arranged with pink tulle.

A few moments before half after eight o'clock the crowded church was hushed while Miss Marian Henry's sweet voice sang the appropriate words of "Still as the Night." Then the beautiful strains of Lohengrin's wedding march softly played by Miss Vera Kimball echoed through the church as the bridal party advanced to the altar, where the groom and his attendants were waiting.

First came Miss Marie McDonald and Miss Mazie McDonald, bridesmaids and sisters of the groom, handsomely gowned in pink satin charmeuse, with overdresses of chiffon, carrying arm clusters of pink sweet peas. Next came Mrs. Olive S. Hinkley, matron of honor and sister of the bride, in a beautiful creation of rose pink messaline, artistically draped with silk marquisette of a deeper shade; she also carried an arm bouquet of pink sweet peas and maiden-hair fern. Next tripped little Bethel Humphrey, the bride's wee sister, in a fluffy white dress and pink butterfly bows, casting pink and white sweet peas from a Marie Antoinette basket, along the pathway, down which the bride slowly passed, beautiful in her floating veil, caught with orange blossoms and myrtle leaves and her trailing robe of heavy ivory satin charmeuse, elaborate with handsome Venice lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses, lilies of the valley and maiden-hair fern. The impressive words of the ring ceremony solemnized the marriage of Frances Humphrey and Roy McDonald were pronounced by Rev. John Franklin Humphrey, the bride's father and pastor of the church. The groom was attended by Albert A. McDonald, best man, and Harry McDonald and Ralph Bourne, ushers. Assistant ushers were Mr. Paul Butterfield, Mr. Lloyd Wilson, Mr. Raymond Lushy and Mr. Ralph Lushy.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 307 West 3rd street, when Rev. and Mrs. Humphrey, assisted by Mrs. Olive S. Hinkley of Redlands, Miss Olive Hadley of Los Angeles and Miss Maude Soper of Glendale received the very near friends and relatives. Here, also, the attractive pink decorations were effectively carried out in pink sweet peas and peach blossoms artistically grouped with garlands of greenery.

Miss Marian Henry sang a "Bowl of Roses" and "The Perfect Day." A delicious wedding supper was served, all in pink and white, by tiny Bethel Humphrey and Nathalie Marmer of Los Angeles.

At the close of the happy evening spent with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. McDonald took their departure for a brief wedding tour, after which Mr. McDonald will take his bride to Thermal, California, where they will reside.

Mrs. McDonald is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Humphrey. For the past five years Rev. Humphrey has been pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Glendale. The groom is the son of Mrs. Rebecca McDonald, who with her family has also resided in this locality during the last five years. Both young people were formerly well known as students of Glendale Union High School. The friendship of their many acquaintances is shown by the handsome display of gifts with which they were remembered.

DEATH OF MRS. CALLIE WRIGHT.

Mrs. Callie Wright of Burbank was found dead in bed Sunday morning, March 23, 1913, by her brother, Mrs. Wright resided alone and was last seen alive Saturday morning in the garden. She was born May 21, 1850, and died March 23, 1913, at the age of 62 years, 10 months and 2 days. Mrs. Wright is survived by one daughter, Mrs. C. C. Fisher, 4363 Sunset boulevard, Los Angeles. The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Christian church in Burbank, Rev. J. W. Utter officiating.

A NOVEL INVENTION.

O. E. Kellum, president and general manager of the National Street and Station Indicator company, called at the News office Monday afternoon and gave us a demonstration of the new street indicator, of which he is inventor. This indicator is an apparatus that automatically indicates the name of the street which is being approached. It is an electrically-operated machine that is attached to the front of the inside of the car. Although quite simple in operation the work of the apparatus is remarkable and the invention is destined to become quite popular.

RECORDER WHOMES IS KEPT BUSY.

There was something doing in Recorder Whomes' court Monday morning. They came along in a steady line, standing room was at a premium, and each of them deposited his little mite, a cool ten spot, into the treasury of our city. It was really good to see with what cheerfulness they let go of the "long green," and before the justice had taken care of the long line the city was $70 to the good.

The visitors called at the city hall as a result of the diligent work of Marshal Miller the day before. Out of the number of autoists who broke the speed limits in Glendale Sunday the marshal managed to "rope in" an even seven. It seems as though Marshal Miller's motorcycle is the best investment this city has ever made, not excepting the lighting department. Every Sunday a number of speeders are caught and each of these contribute to the city's upkeep.

Recorder Whomes has grown so hardened to the practice of saying, "The sentence of this court is that you pay a fine of $10 or be imprisoned in the county jail for ten days," that it has become a habit and can be repeated while he is attending to other business.

The way speeders lined up was as follows: E. Myers, A. B. Shaw, Harvey W. Smith, H. Moore, J. S. Mather, B. J. Humphrey and T. Everett. Most of these were from Los Angeles, while one or two were from Pasadena.

PLANNING FOR NEW LIBRARY.

The library board of this city met at the city hall on Thursday evening of last week for the purpose of considering the plan of action in reference to the new library building to be donated to this city by Mr. Carnegie. About the only important business affected during the evening was the conferring with Paul V. Tuttle, local architect, as to the plans for the new structure. When the meeting adjourned it was the intention of those present to meet at the city hall on Thursday evening of this week, at which time Mr. Tuttle submitted plans for the consideration of the board.

When plans have been submitted to the board that prove satisfactory to that body these plans will be sent to Mr. Carnegie and assistants in this work. There are several features of the library buildings donated by Mr. Carnegie that that gentleman insists upon. When these requirements have been met and the plans returned to the local library board work on the new structure will begin at once.

In offering to erect a $12,500 library building in this city Mr. Carnegie does so with the understanding that the city of Glendale set aside yearly the amount of $1,250 for the upkeep of the building and its contents. The work leading to the securing of this much-needed structure is being rushed just as fast as possible. The present library is being well patronized by the people of this city. New books are being added weekly.

ANNIVERSARY SURPRISE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wilson of 100 North Louise street were the victims of a happy surprise on Wednesday evening of last week, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Those present at this pleasant gathering to congratulate the bride and groom of twenty-five years ago were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lennox, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lushy and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Weaver.

The dainty and appetizing refreshments served was a pleasant feature of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were the recipients of gifts in solid silver, which will always be reminders to them of this twenty-fifth milestone in the journey of their wedded life.

The guests departed expressing the sincere wish that the "old folks" should enjoy at least another quarter century of happiness together.

DEATH OF MRS. E. A. SPENCER.

Mrs. E. A. Spencer passed away, Wednesday, March 19, 1913, at the home of her son, O. Spencer, 1537 West Broadway, aged 93 years, 11 months and 10 days.

Elizabeth Ann Gentle was born in White County, Missouri, and spent most of her lifetime in that State. She was united in marriage with Thomas Fielder Spencer, who preceded her in death about forty-six years. There are three sons living—O. Spencer of Glendale, Walter of Pierce, Colorado; Joel of Clarkburg, Missouri.

The son, O. Spencer, accompanied the body of his mother to LaCade, Missouri, where funeral services were held Monday. The deceased had lived to an exceptionally old age, and had enjoyed good health until about six weeks prior to her death.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING NOTES.

Charles Richter of North Glendale, a retired merchant of Chicago, is just finishing one of the most beautiful homes in this valley, this residence being located immediately at the north end of the Los Angeles-Glendale electric line. The home has a south frontage, being situated on Mountain street at the north end of Brand boulevard. This home, the architect of which was A. F. Priest of North Glendale, will cost something like $12,000. It will contain ten rooms, and will be a story and a half structure. At the south end of the home, just above the porch at the front will be an observation room and porch, which will also be used as an outside sleeping porch. The entire home will command an excellent view of the entire valley, but from this observation balcony a view of the entire valley will be obtainable such as is not equalled anywhere. The ten rooms of the home are exclusive of the servants' quarters, which will be at the rear of the residence. Here, also, will be an up-to-date garage and other outbuildings.

The exterior of the house will be partly of cement and partly of wood, and there will be a tile roof. There is a cellar under the entire house. The interior of the residence will be finished entirely in various kinds of hardwoods, with large fireplace, built-in buffet and other features.

This property owned by Mr. Richter consists of about six large lots. After the residence has been completed a landscape gardener will be employed, and when finished the grounds will be among the prettiest in this valley. An acre at the rear of the home will be planted to various fruit trees and shrubbery. This property is doubtless among the finest in the valley and has been frequently sought by wealthy men who wished to locate there. Mr. Richter, who is an ex-assemblyman of Illinois, first came to Glendale several years ago. At that time he was so impressed with this section that he purchased the land upon which he is now building.

It is Mr. Richter's hope and intention to be able to move into his new home in something like a month.

George K. Barnes, formerly of the Smith-Barnes Music company of Chicago, is erecting a 6-room residence at the corner of Brand boulevard and Randolph street, North Glendale, which will cost something like $3500 to complete. The exterior of this home will be of shakes with Malthold roofing, and there will be a large garage at the rear of the home. Fruit trees will be planted at the rear of the home, while camphor trees will be planted at the front. Mr. Barnes owns three lots on Brand boulevard, this home being erected on a lot and a half, the other portion of the ground to be occupied by a home which will be erected the coming summer by his son, E. K. Barnes of Rockford, Ill., this home to cost something like $5,000. The restriction in this tract is $3,000.

RECEPTION FOR BRIDE.

One of the prettiest of the early spring social affairs was the reception given on Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dornay at their home, 1111 Seventh street, in honor of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Farrar, who have recently returned from a short wedding tour in the southern part of the state.

The parlors were beautifully and effectively decorated in spring-time decorations of pink peach blossoms, ferns and festoons of pink ribbon. The receiving line comprised Mr. and Mrs. Dornay and Mr. and Mrs. Farrar. The honor guest was exquisitely gowned in pale blue brocaded satin with corsage bouquet of Cecil Brunner rose-buds.

During the evening Miss Ethel Best sang several selections, Miss Evangeline Hanchberger rendered a number of pleasing readings and Miss Lucile Spaulding delighted her hearers with piano solos.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrar were remembered by their friends with numerous handsome gifts.

During the next two months they will be at home to their friends at the home of the bride's parents, 1111 West Seventh, after which they will reside in the northern part of the state.

I. O. O. F. LODGE NOTES.

A very interesting meeting was held on Monday evening. Plans are being under way for the new Odd Fellows' building, with the following building committee in charge: J. M. Banker, G. L. Murdock, C. M. Lund, J. S. Stine, J. A. Bullis.

R. P. Foss and O. H. Amberg were elected delegates to the Grand Lodge to convene in Los Angeles in May. Glendale Lodge No. 388, and Carnation Rebekah Lodge No. 257 will hold a joint celebration on April 26, in honor of the ninety-fourth anniversary of the order, in a place to be named later.

One specially miserable looking object drifted along about noon and stood as if dazed at the sight of food and drink and commiseration. His uniform might have been blue or it might have been gray—mud and smudge were the prevailing hues. His shoes were heavy brogans tied with twine, and his naked and sore ankles showed that he was without socks. An old slouch hat was pulled over his face, and a tobacco bag hung from a button of his jacket, the collar of which was turned up to the chin, evidently to conceal the condition of the shirt—or the lack of one.

"You poor fellow!" said Jenny. "Tell me, were you in the cavalry?"

"Yes, Miss Buckthorn. Is it possible you do not recognize me? I must apologize for my appearance, but—"

"Great heavens! Is it yourself, Heartsease?" exclaimed the girl, with a little shriek. "Why, you look like a bum."

"Possibly this may serve to identify me," and he drew from the mysterious inner recesses a stained packet, which proved to be a large silk handkerchief enveloping a dainty lace one.

Heartsease received his captain's commission at the dinner table that same evening. After all, as the old general said, he was a regular and had fought before he ran, and that was a contrast to many of the pestiferous ready-made shoulder straps who had betrayed the brave volunteers and lost the fight for them, and who were now standing about unabashed, bragging in the barrooms.

Kerchival West, shortly after his arrival at St. Louis, was assigned to the army of southwestern Missouri, where in a short time he saw hard service in almost every line except that of actual fighting. A large addition had been made to the regular army and to fill vacancies in the new regiments rapid promotions among the officers already in service had occurred. In a few months' time West rose from second lieutenant to the rank of captain of infantry—an advancement which a year before could only have been gained as a reward of perhaps fifteen years of continuous service.

As weeks and months passed on it was possible to find a certain encouragement in the fact that the defeat of McDowell's army, while not utilized by the Confederates to its full military effect, nevertheless flattered them into a feeling of strength and security, resulting in comparative inactivity in the field for the better part of a year. At the north the effect produced was exactly the contrary. While the south was planning the organization of a new republic and even putting up the name of General Beauregard as a candidate for the presidential succession in such a way as to incur for that officer the cordial distrust of Jefferson Davis forever afterward, the Federal government and the people of the northern and western states set to work with furious energy to counteract the reverses suffered in the beginning. Congress authorized the enlistment of half a million of men for three years, an increase of the navy and stupendous loans with which to strengthen the sinews of war.

Lieutenant General Scott, now past seventy years of age, hung up his laureled sword and yielded the command of the Federal armies to a younger and more active officer, General George B. McClellan.

With two Federal armies ready to move into Virginia—that of McClellan at Washington and that under General Banks opposite Leesburg—to say nothing of considerable bodies of troops harassing the northern counties about the headwaters of the Potomac, the Confederate prospects for the spring of 1862 were decidedly threatening. To protect this portion of the state and to guard the lower Shenandoah valley against General Banks, the Confederate government determined to send a force to Winchester. This force, organized under the official title of the "Army of the Monongahela," was placed under the command of "Stonewall" Jackson, now advanced to the rank of major general.

This was great news to the Ellinghams, not only for the naive reason that it seemed to them like throwing an impregnable guard around Belle Bosquet and the whole valley, but also and especially because of Captain Robert Ellingham's part in the growing prestige of the "Stonewall" brigade.

The valley of Virginia comprised within that section of the Appalachian plateau bounded on the east by the Blue Ridge and on the west by a range of the Alleghenies called there the North mountains, stretches from the headwaters of the Shenandoah near Staunton on the south to the Potomac on the north, a distance of considerably more than a hundred miles. At the upper end this valley is more than forty miles wide, while at Strasburg, fifty miles south of the Potomac, the extreme width is scarcely twenty-five.

A broad macadamized road, the famous Valley pike, traverses the entire region from north to south, with lateral roads extending to the mountain boundaries on either side, those toward the Blue Ridge connecting through various gaps with the railroads of eastern Virginia.

This beautiful and fertile region called for protection for its own sake as well as for that of its patriotic population (of which the Ellinghams were a fair sample), its numerous black slaves and the rich supplies which its lush meadow lands and broad plantations furnished.

It was especially important from a southern military viewpoint that the valley should be held intact by a Confederate army. No portion of the region could be given up without serious detriment to operations north of Richmond.

"If this valley is lost Virginia is lost," was Jackson's watchword.

Early in January, 1862, Captain Ellingham wrote to his sister in Richmond: "We have only conjecture as to our destination. General Jackson keeps his secrets so well as to deceive not only the enemy, but ourselves."

Without losing any time Jackson now set out with fiercer energy than ever to surprise the Federal garrison under General Kelly at Romney. The weather was fearful, even for ordinary travel, to say nothing of forced military movements. Men and horses fell on the icy roads, their guns going off all along the line, the knees and muzzles of the animals lacerated, the men limping along, leaving trails of blood on the frozen snow. The march was comparable to Napoleon's passage of the Alps and not alone in its hardships, but likewise in its results, for before the 1st of February General Kelly had evacuated Romney, and for the moment there was no Federal force left in the entire lower valley.

With the opening of spring four Federal armies under Fremont, Banks, McDowell and McClellan respectively were ready to close in upon Richmond. Fremont and Banks in the north and west expected to unite their forces and drive Jackson up the valley, cutting the Confederate communications—and then sweeping down upon Richmond from the mountains, while McClellan marched up the peninsula between the James and York rivers, and McDowell advanced from Fredericksburg.

Early in March "Stonewall" Jackson was back in Winchester with Banks and an augmented Federal force at his heels on the north, and Shields with another army reported at Strasburg to the southward.

Here Bob Ellingham first made the acquaintance of Colonel Ashby, commanding Jackson's cavalry—a wonderful cavalier from Fauquier county, mounted on a milk-white blooded horse, the most dashing rider in the whole state of Virginia, and as a leader of partisans destined soon to rank among the foremost of his contemporaries. Ashby looked like a Moor and had the chivalrous soul of a Saladin.

They struck Shields near Woodstock, some forty miles up the pike, and on March 23 attacked him, at Kernstown, and were repulsed. This was one of the few setbacks Jackson encountered in his campaign, and the furious impulse of his rebound that followed immediately after made it a costly victory for his opponent. A frenzy seized "Old Stonewall" and his men and made them invincible, irresistible. The limitless resources of the now thoroughly aroused Washington government were brought to bear in earnest upon this bold secessionist.

The whole valley was alive with marching and countermarching, advancing and retreating armies, Jackson's desperate game was to present a menacing front in several directions at once, while awaiting re-enforcements sorely needed. General Banks came over from Manassas, bent upon his destruction. At the same time Blenker, on his way with 10,000 men to join Fremont, was instructed to report to him as he followed Jackson up the valley. Jackson stood at bay at Swift Run gap in the Blue Ridge mountains, with the Shenandoah river in his front and his flanks protected by the foothills. Ewell, with a handy Confederate force, was not far away, but on the other side of the mountains in Jackson's rear, at Gordonsville.

In this tight place Jackson called upon General Lee at Richmond to re-enforce him with 5,000 men, Lee could not spare any from the defense of Richmond, but suggested that a union might be effected with General Edward Johnson and his 3,500 troops at Staunton. Ewell was expected to move eastward against McDowell's Federal army at Fredericksburg. Meanwhile Banks, with his large force, was watching General Edward Johnson at Harrisonburg. The Federal Generals Milroy and Schenck had moved up west of the mountains, in front of Johnson, awaiting the arrival of Fremont from the north.

It was now the end of April, and "Stonewall" Jackson started in to do the theoretically impossible. Evading Banks and Harrisonburg, he moved with incredible swiftness to Staunton, joined his force with Johnson's and defeated Milroy and Schenck at one fell blow. This great advantage had to be followed up, so Ewell marched over into the valley from Gordonsville, compelling Banks to fall back to Strasburg. Having disposed of the two Federal commanders, Jackson, with Ewell, now hotfooted it to Front Royal, where the north and south forks of the Shenandoah river unite, at the northern end of Massanutten ridge.

CHAPTER V. Grand Old Jack.

The stunning successes of Jackson at Front Royal and subsequently at Cross Keys and Port Republic, on the Shenandoah, were achieved by a startling series of maneuvers, little understood by the world at the time, save that in a general way they meant that he "held one commander at arm's length while he hammered the other."

"I have seen grand Old Jack rattled, for once," Captain Ellingham wrote his sister from Front Royal. "We were opposite Port Republic and the general, with a part of his staff, had crossed over the bridge into the town when the enemy appeared in force, with the evident design of attacking the town, destroying the bridge over the Shenandoah and thus cutting off our army and getting in our rear. Jackson sent some hurried orders to Tallaferro and Winder for the defense of the bridge, but before these could be executed the advance Federal batteries had opened fire and their cavalry, crossing the South river, had swept into the town and taken position at the southern entrance to the bridge."

"You see, the general had not recrossed the river and so he was completely cut off, and we didn't know it. They do say he met the emergency with the most audacious display of nerve and presence of mind that you ever heard of—actually rode toward the bridge, and, rising in his stirrups, called out to the Federal officer commanding the artillery: 'Who ordered you to post that gun there, sir? Bring it over here.' It fooled them long enough to enable Jackson to put spurs to his horse and dash on to the bridge at full gallop."

"Three hasty shots followed him, but they flew harmlessly over his head, and he reached our quarters on the northern bank in safety. And was he rattled? Well, at the moment of the scare I saw young Bob Lee (youngest son of General Lee, you know, who is only fifteen and left the university to join the "Stonewall" brigade as a private) going down to the bank of the stream to fetch up some water. He had the big camp kettle slung over his shoulder, and I suppose the general in his excitement thought it was a drum, for as he flew past he shouted out to Bob:

"Hi, there, drummer, beat the long roll!"

"That was a close shave, dear Sis. But I believe—and so do we all—that our "Stonewall" Jackson lives a charmed life while he has the job of clearing the valley to perform, and nothing can stop him. Do you know what the Yanks call him? 'The ubiquitous Presbyterian.' It seems like a wild dream, as I look back upon what has happened since you and I parted at Richmond. Our commander, whom we were rather inclined to poke fun at in the beginning and whose recklessness many distrusted a long while after that, has bowled over the Federal commanders as fast as they could be hurled against him—Banks, Fremont, Shields, Milroy, with subordinates like Blenker, Sigel, Steinwehr and other able soldiers defeated and the whole upper valley regained."

"Why, think of it—in three months he—may I say we?—have marched, I suppose, 600 miles, fought four pitched battles and seven minor engagements, to say nothing of the regular daily skirmishes. And we have defeated four armies, captured seven pieces of artillery, 10,000 stand of arms, 4,000 prisoners and any amount of stores, besides fabulous sums (as I hear) of cash money.

"What our adversaries' losses in killed and wounded foot up I don't know, but they could not have been small. Ours were less comparatively; but, oh, Gertrude, we have lost our Ashby. He fell in a moment of triumph, and his last words were, 'Virginians, charge!' I am sure his name will always be remembered and honored by the people of Virginia."

"He was not a Presbyterian, like Old Jack, but he was devout and childlike in his religious faith and a regular attendant at the services of the Episcopal church, which was the church of his ancestors. He may have kept himself a bit aloof from the vulgar camp fun or moments of abandonment, though no man was more frank and gay on the march or in bivouac."

"Is it worth these sacrifices? Gertrude, in spite of all our successes I wish this nightmare of civil war were over and well over. But who can tell now when we shall be out of the woods?"

Washington, remembering Bull Run, had nervous prostration whenever "Stonewall" Jackson was reported in action anywhere within a hundred miles of the Potomac. For this reason it is probably historic truth to say that "Stonewall" Jackson saved Richmond to the Confederates in 1862—in the first place by diverting McDowell's army to the valley, in the second place by marching fresh from his own victories in that same valley to join Lee in the seven days' battle around the Confederate capital.

"I am going back home," said Gertrude Ellingham with determination. "I long to see the valley once more, and I can do just as much good at Belle Bosquet as I can here, perhaps more now."

It was not because of the anxious outlook in Richmond, with McClellan's army almost within gunshot. On the contrary, that in itself would have kept her in the threatened Confederate capital had not stronger ties of both duty and sentiment drawn her homeward.

As Gertrude read in northern newspapers the accounts of the desperate fighting and of the suffering of Jackson's troops she exclaimed:

"Let them send the whole population of the north down here if they will, but they can never conquer us! When they have killed off our men we will shed the last drop of our own blood."

Captain Kerchival West of the Union army of southwest Missouri, as he read the account while alternately burning and shivering in the ague stricken camps of the lower Mississippi valley around Corinth, thought in feverish fancy that he could hear Gertrude saying just such words as these. Her hate, as he imagined it, was like his love—an unreasoning, all consuming passion. He felt himself ominously fortified with the double strength of hope and despair, for love is a flame that feeds upon despair and takes a lurid halo of glory most of all when lavished wildly and in vain.

One sovereign solace he had, that he was wearing the blue and fighting loyally for the old flag in a campaign sufficiently remote from the valley of Virginia. After all, fate had been kind to him, he thought, as he recalled his farewell words with Bob Ellingham, at Charleston—was it ages ago or only a little more than a year back? "All right, Bob. I only hope we never meet in battle, that's all."

And then they both saddened as they added:

"Who knows?"

Who knew, indeed? What a tangled skein of lives it was, anyway! One thing was certain—he may have been glad he was not fighting in Virginia, and yet his heart was there all the time.

Meanwhile Gertrude's decision to leave Richmond and go home to the valley was put into execution with characteristic impulse. It was a bad time for such a journey. That made no difference about her embarking upon it, but it did lead to some very complicated and roundabout arrangements for the accomplishment of the trip.

Her Confederate war office friends, for reasons essentially their own, decreed that if she went at all it must be by way of Baltimore and Harpers Ferry. For the last named barrier, a Federal pass would be required, this to be procured at Baltimore. And to get to Baltimore, by water of course, it was necessary to run the Federal blockade.

But this would be comparatively easy under the plan agreed upon, by which Gertrude was to have a traveling companion—a mysterious southern lady who knew the routes intimately and who seemed to be rather closely in touch with the executive departments at Richmond for one who confidently promised to arrange the little matter of Federal passes at Baltimore.

This young person—she seemed not over twenty—was introduced somewhat vaguely as Mrs. Smith. She was well dressed, fairly good looking and a bright talker, particularly with the men. Her self-confidence was perhaps a trifle excessive; but then this would not come amiss for two unprotected females abroad in Dixie in wartime.

On the first stage of the journey overland as they stopped overnight at Petersburg Gertrude said to her fascinating roommate:

"Mrs. Smith, I have told you what little there is of interest about myself and my plans. I do so wish you would tell me something of your own adventures."

"I don't mind, my dear, now that we are off and on our way," laughed

WOMAN'S PAGE

THE IDEAL WIFE.

Rev. W. C. Loomis, pastor of the M. E. church, at Hanford, recently sent out twenty letters asking the young men of that city to name their ideal of a wife. One of the replies that has caused a deal of comment sets forth the following as a sufficient requirement in a mate for life:

"The ideal woman for a wife should have these qualifications: The voice of Melba, the talent of Padrewski, the figure of Venus, the grace of a sylph, the vivacity of a corymb, eyes like the soft glow of a moonlight eve, an alabaster-like complexion, the virtues of a nun, the charm of Cleopatra, the meekness of Moses, the patience of Job, the forbearance of Lazarus, the zeal of a Trojan, the constancy of Caesar's wife, the capabilities of a charwoman, the purse of a Hetty Green and hair of her own."

"This is going some! And the question suggests itself, Is the writer of the above really a man who wishes to show his kind the folly of their demands or is she some woman who wishes to hold up the men to the ridicule of the people by showing up the standards they set for women?"

EGGS IN CROUSTADES.

Eggs may be served in croustades of bread, rice, potatoes or pastry. The bread croustades are stamped in diamonds, rounds or other forms with a cutter. When shaped take the point of a sharp knife and mark a line a half inch from the edges. Then scoop out the bread inside the lines so that these will hold the egg. Pastry croustades are shaped from ordinary puff paste and then baked. Patty cases are often substituted for them.

Making the Cases.

Potato croustades may be made of mashed potatoes, giving firmness before baking by brushing with egg yolk diluted with milk.

Plain rice croustades are made in much the same way. Rolls are sometimes used as croustades instead of bread.

Eggs in Bread Croustades.—Slice the bread about two inches thick, then shape with the cutter. After bread rounds are shaped put on a pan in the oven and brown. When ready to use immerse quickly in hot salted water and then break one egg in the center of each and place small pieces of bacon around the edge. Put in the oven and bake until it is as firm as you like it.

Croustades of Eggs with Cheese.—Slice the bread an inch thick and cut in squares. Butter these and let them toast in the oven. Beat six eggs well, put a tablespoonful of butter in the double boiler and turn in the eggs. Cook till creamy, but not lumpy or tough. This means slow cooking. Stir in six tablespoonfuls of Swiss cheese grated, one spoonful at a time, and stirring till entirely mixed. Add two tablespoonfuls of cream and half a spoonful of butter. Pour this over the toasted bread.

A Cereal Crust.

Rice Croustades and Eggs.—Take a half pound of rice, parboil in water for about six minutes, then drain. Rinse in cold water. Pour a pint of nice chicken broth into a saucepan and add the rice to it, together with an ounce of butter and a tablespoonful of salt. Cook until tender and then add three tablespoonfuls of grated cheese—Parmesan or domestic—and the yolks of two eggs. Spread the mixture in a buttered baking pan, allowing it to be about two inches deep. When it is cold take a round cutter and cut out in pieces two inches in diameter. Remove the centers, sprinkle with breadcrumbs, brush with beaten eggs and sprinkle with more breadcrumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat until golden brown. Drain on paper and fill each center with a poached egg.

PINEAPPLES FOR DESSERT.

Fresh pineapples are abundant and inexpensive and make delicious desserts. Where fresh fruit cannot be bought the canned pineapple is available, so that, no matter how far one may be from city markets, this tempting fruit may be enjoyed.

Pineapple Baskets.—Wash the fruit, take off the leaves and save them to garnish with. Without paring cut the pineapple in three or four sections, according to its size. Scoop out the pulp, leaving a thin layer to form a bottom to the center cuts, thus forming baskets or cases to which the pulp is returned, after shredding.

ENDIVE SHALER.

Cut off all the outer green leaves of three large heads of endive and clean thoroughly, washing the endive in several waters. Drain and blanch them in boiling water for ten minutes. Cool in cold water, then take out and drain and press out all the water possible; chop and place in a saucepan with four ounces of butter, cooking for a quarter of an hour. Now pour in, a very little at a time, two small glasses of cream or milk, reduce and grate in a little nutmeg, adding salt and pepper to taste. Stir well and leave on the fire for five minutes longer, turn out on a hot dish and serve with croustons of fried bread.—Montreal Star.

LADY FINGERS.

In making dainty dishes like lady fingers and kisses everything needs to be very clean, as a drop of grease would spoil all. First lay a few brown papers, thin ones if handy, on a table, and then make a cornucopia out of one to put mixture into to lay out in finger shape or in drops; sift one cup of dry flour with a little baking powder on one paper, and one cup powdered sugar on another paper; then beat the whites of seven eggs very stiff, sugar lightly, then yolk and flavor, sift in your flour very lightly; wet paper to get off and put together at once; have eggs very cold for good results.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

EGG PLANT, PARMESAN.

Cut a peeled egg plant into quarters lengthwise, scoop out the seeds and cut into convenient sized pieces. Rub a steppan over with garlic, melt a large lump of butter in it, put in the pieces of egg plant. Season with salt and pepper and a little grated nutmeg. Toss this about over the fire, and before the egg plant is quite done put in plenty of Parmesan cheese and add more butter if it seems to be necessary. When tender turn the egg plant on to a hot dish with the cheese over it, garnish with sippets of hot buttered toast and serve immediately.

GREEN PEAS, BOURGEOISE.

Put the required quantity of young peas in a steppan with butter, allowing eight ounces to every quart of peas; add the washed heart of a large lettuce, a bunch of parsley, a few small onions, and a little salt. Moisten with broth and cook slowly until tender. Now stir in the beaten yolks of two eggs and a teaspoonful of sugar, not allowing to boil after the eggs are added. Serve on a hot dish.

Sustaining Soups.

Very nice soups may be made with that homely vegetable, the potato. Served with dumplings they make substantial additions to a light meal.

Potato Soups with Eggs.—Take three medium sized potatoes and boil until done. Mash fine, add a teaspoonful each of salt and white pepper, a tablespoonful of butter, three cupfuls of milk and one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water. Place on the fire and let come to boil before removing from fire. Stir in the beaten whites of two eggs and serve at once with crisp salt crackers.

Welsh Potato Soup.—Mince the white of two leeks and fry them in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Add three medium sized peeled and quartered potatoes and one pint of white stock and cook quickly. When the potatoes are tender, rub them through a sieve. Add the desired quantity of boiled milk or thin cream and heat to the boiling point, adding the potato puree, a lump of butter and some croutons of fried bread just before serving.

Cream of Potato Soup.—Take a pint and a half of milk, boil with a slice of onion and pour this over one cupful of cold mashed potatoes, pressing through a strainer. Melt one tablespoonful of butter and stir into it one tablespoonful of flour, letting the mixture boil, but not brown. Cool slightly and stir in the milk slowly until thickened. Add the seasoning of salt and white pepper and serve very hot with nicely browned croutons.

Potato Puree.—Peel, wash and slice a quart of potatoes. Put them into a saucepan and add a large onion in slices, a small bunch of soup herbs, a crushed nutmeg, three bay leaves, a level teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of pepper and two quarts of water. Boil until the potatoes can be reduced to pulp. Then rub through a fine sieve and return to the saucepan on the stove. Add two cupfuls of boiling milk and a large tablespoonful of butter. Stir until the butter is absorbed and the puree is very hot. Serve with a plate of thin dry toast cut into small cubes.

WHAT A LADY MAY SPEND IN DRESS.

Exactly why the amount of money a lady may spend on her dress should be so often under discussion is hard to see in these days when the best known women are for the most part too busy to think of dressing as a fine art. But with the accession of a new mistress to the White House the point is brought up again. Mrs. Wilson has said that $1000 a year seems to her a very generous sum for a lady to spend on her dress, adding that she herself has always dressed on very much less. In proportion to the general expenditures of her household an outlay of that amount would have been extravagant.

People are also citing what Mrs. Roosevelt said about it. She found that any lady should be able to be well dressed on $300 a year. This would mean today a more limited wardrobe than it would have meant at the time Mrs. Roosevelt set this example of simplicity upon going into the White House. This did not mean that she herself limited her expenditures to that amount, but that experience had proved to her that a lady could be well dressed for this sum. Of course the expenditure regularly year by year of the stated sum must be taken into account. To buy an entirely new wardrobe for $300 is a very different thing from adding clothes to that amount to the stock already in hand each year. For example, if one buys furs this year they will not be needed again for a number of seasons. A good evening wrap will last several seasons, and many women who care a good deal about being up to date in dress wear gowns for more than one season.

The wife of the Governor of New York has sent to the New York Sun lately an estimate of a wardrobe for $1,000. However, this estimate does not mean that Mrs. Sulzer spends either $1,000 or more or less than that on her own wardrobe.

From the New York woman who said she could dress on $10,000 a year when she did not buy pearls, to the other rich woman who says she can dress on $2,500, is a wide gulf. Then consider a President's wife finding $300 a reasonable sum! Truly it takes all sorts and conditions of thinking to make up an American republic.

LIVING EXPENSE $63.

A Los Angeles man by the name of Butterfield recently testified before the Industrial Commission that the lowest cost of living per month for a man and his wife is $63, and if a few luxuries are indulged in the cost per month will easily reach $80.

Mr. Butterfield presents the following practical schedule:

Rent of cottage	$15.50
Husband's car fare	3.00
Wife's car fare	.30
Laundry	4.00
Milk, 1 quart at 10c per day	3.00
Meat, 1 lb. per day at 20c	6.00
Groceries	12.00
Newspapers, 7c and 25 cents	1.00
Medicines	1.00
Hair cutting	.25
Hats	1.00
Shoes	1.00
Shirts, 3 per year at $1.50 for husband	.38
Suits, 2 per year at $18	3.00
Suits, 2 per year at $12	2.00
Underwear for both, 4 suits per year at $1.50	.50
Collars, 12 per year at 12 1/2c	.12
Socks and stockings, 24 pair per year at 25c	.50
Depreciation of furniture	.50
Gas and light	2.00
Stationery, postage and 2 magazines	.50
Overcoats, gloves, dresses, shirtwaists, etc.	3.00
Brooms, utensils, soap, etc.	.20
Toilet articles, face powder, etc	.25
Depreciation of house linen	.50
Proportion of poll tax	.17
Umbrella, plumber, etc.	.13
Having photo taken	.20
Doctor bills (averaged)	1.50
Total	$63.00

The following additional items, which do not seem unreasonable, runs Mr. Butterfield's list up to $80:

town	$6.00
If lodge, church or other societies	.50
If theaters, at 50 cents each one a month	1.00
If trips to the beach, once a month	1.00
If husband smokes	1.50
If kodak used (average)	1.00
If husband brings bag of candy home every week	.60
If husband brings wife flowers every week	.40
If couple eat supper in restaurant occasionally	1.60
If friends given entertainment sometimes, without wines	1.00
If friends visited across town twice a month	.50
If dentist needed (average)	.50
If dye works patronized	1.00
Total for these	$17.00
Minimum total	$80.00

INDIAN CORN BIG FOOD FACTOR.

Maize or Indian corn, or just corn as Americans call it, is the national grain of the United States. It contributes more to the nation's wealth and greatness than any other of its resources, says the National Food Magazine.

Not only is there a wonderful variety of products made from corn, but every one of these products can be produced and sold cheaper than the same class of materials from any other source.

The millers of wheat did not like it when cornbread began to cut in on the sale of wheat flour. Well, we can imagine how the manufacturers of cane syrup objected to the growing popularity of corn syrup; how the manufacturers of lard viewed with alarm the rivalry of corn oil; and we rather fancy that the sugar manufacturers have not relished the importance that corn syrup has assumed in the candy and preserve industry.

But no murmur of complaint on any of these scores has been heard from the direction of the farmer or the consumer, for they have been the principal beneficiaries from the increasing uses of the new food. And in spite of all the piled up and combined opposition, the corn products have marched steadily onward, winning friends among all classes and their popularity is growing every day.

A delicious syrup is a blend of corn syrup and molasses in the proportion of nine parts corn syrup to one part of cane. The syrup thus produced is just sweet enough; it is free from the objectionable smarting taste of the all-cane syrup, and it possesses a smoothness and delicacy of flavor to be found in no other spread.

A single concern has done more than all other sources combined in finding new and added uses for corn, and thus broadening our food supply. Its annual consumption of corn amounts to about 50,000,000 bushels, or 139,000 bushels of corn daily. Twenty-five million dollars is paid to the corn producers of America each year by this one company, and the amount it has saved the consumers in cheapening the cost of food products is probably several times this amount. The total exports of corn amount to about 83,000,000 bushels a year. Thus this one industry has paid the farmers for one-half as much corn as is exported.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott, for the International Press Bible Question Club

March 30, 1913.

(Copyright, 1912, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

Review—The God of Our Fathers. Reading Lesson Only: Heb. 11:1-19. Golden Text—Our fathers trusted in thee; they trusted, and thou didst deliver them. Ps. 22:4.

The following questions may be used as an original lesson or as a review of the twelve preceding lessons.

The date and title of each lesson, where found, Golden Text and one question from each lesson follow.

Jan. 5. The Creation. Gen. 1:1-2:3. Golden Text—In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Gen. 1:1.

(1) Verses 1-2—What is the evidence that the earth is of the nature of a growth or a development from one stage to another?

Jan. 12. Man the Crown of Creation. Gen. 1:26-27; 2:4-25; Psalm 8. Golden Text—God created man in his own image. Gen. 1:27.

(2) Verses 26-27—What would you say is the proof that man is like God?

Jan. 19. Man's First Sin. Gen. 3. Golden Text—Every one that committeth sin is the bondservant of sin. John 8:34.

(3) Verse 1—Lying and stealing, with some other sins, often look to be advantageous to those who are tempted, but why does God forbid them?

Jan. 26. Cain and Abel. Gen. 4:1-15. Golden Text—Whoever hateth his brother is a murderer. 1 John 3:15.

(4) Verses 5-7—What sin had Cain been guilty of up to this time?

Feb. 2. The Flood. Gen. 6:9-22; 7:1-24. Golden Text—The wages of sin is death; but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord. Rom. 6:23.

(5) Verses 11-23—What was the nature of the badness of which the world was guilty that God determined to destroy it? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Feb. 9. God's Covenant with Noah. Gen. 8:1-9:17. Golden Text—I do set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be a token of a covenant between me and the earth. Gen. 9:13.

(6) Verses 4-5—Do the chief events in our lives come about by our own plans or through the providence of God? Give your reasons.

Feb. 16. The Call of Abram. Gen. 12:1-9. Golden Text—I will bless thee and make thy name great, and be thou a blessing. Gen. 12:2.

(7) Verse 1—How had Abram learned to know the voice of God?

Feb. 23. Abram and Lot. Gen. 13:1-18. Golden Text—The blessing of Jehovah it maketh rich, and it addeth no sorrow therewith. Prov. 10:22.

(8) Verse 7—Is it possible or impossible, and why, for two parties to quarrel without either party being to blame for the cause of the quarrel?

March 2. God's Covenant with Abraham. Gen. 15:17:1-8. Golden Text—He is faithful that promised. Heb. 10:23.

(9) Verses 5-6—Why was it that Abram doubted at one moment and had such sublime faith the next?

March 9. The Destruction of Sodom. (A Temperance Lesson.) Gen. 19:1-8, 12-29. Golden Text—Come ye out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch no unclean thing. II Cor. 6:17.

(10) Verse 17—Why is intemperance a sin of such great magnitude and danger that we ought to urge men to fly for their lives from it?

March 16. The Test of Abraham's Faith. Gen. 22:1-19. Golden Text—I desire goodness, and sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings. Hos. 6:6.

(11) Verse 1—Abraham had passed through some wonderful tests of his faith. What does it suggest that God tested him still further?

March 23. Isaac and Rebekah. Gen. 24. Golden Text—In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he will direct thy paths. Prov. 3:6.

(12) Verses 2-9—Isaac was thirty-six years old when Abraham, his father, sent his servant to seek him a wife. Would you say that very man should marry, and, if so, at what age?

Lesson for Sunday, April 6, 1913, Jacob and Esau. Gen. 25:27-34; 27:1-45.

A DRILLER

At Camp Cadwalader, Philadelphia, when the 196th Pennsylvania was being organized, Denny Dougherty came to us to enlist.

"Do you know anything about drilling, Denny?" asked Capt. Rowbottom.

"Yes, sure," said Denny. "Good," said the Captain. "I need you for Second Sergeant, and so appoint you."

That afternoon at dress parade, when the regiment was being dismissed, Sergeant Dougherty was placed in command of the company to take the men back to their quarters, and made such a stupid failure that the Captain took him to task.

"Why did you deceive me? You said you had three years' experience in drilling."

"Yes; so I did. In the Pottsville coal mines I drilled all the time."

You don't know how cheap a thing is until you know how good it is.

BUY AT HOME.

Buy at home and try at home
To give the town a show;
Live at home and give at home
And help the town to grow.
Make your cot the nicest spot
That's under heaven's dome;
Just buy a bit to brighten it—
Buy, and buy at home.

If you'd like a town to strike
All comfort and content,
It will be the town, you see,
In which your money's spent.
If you'd find the finest kind
Of town, you needn't roam;
Just boost a bit—and live in it—
Buy, and buy at home.

POLICY OUTLINED.

It is in place to make it very clear, at this particular time that the main object of the Glendale News is to publish the local happenings of Glendale and vicinity. The agreeable and beautiful side of every question will be presented to our readers. The News is not a sensational sheet, nor is it a sheet that will encourage factional warfare. The News at present knows of no north, no south, no east, no west; knows of nothing but a solid Glendale. Likewise the News knows of no factional strife; knows of no cause for it; knows of no one who is a harmful citizen, and with this knowledge the editor will not give space to intimations and imaginary injustices. If you have anything good to say of your fellow citizen the News will give you space to say it; but if it is something bad you wish to say, we advise you to leave it unsaid. The average man is as good as his neighbor, and if really a bad citizen gets into the neighborhood, correct his errors by an application of law, and not through the local paper.

The columns of the News will always be open for logical discussions that tend to educate the people for higher and better things. Glendale is a beautiful city—a place of beautiful homes, and the News is a paper that will, so far as possible, have its columns filled with cheerful and agreeable statements about the people of this model city.

CLEAN-UP DAY.

At the suggestion of citizens of Glendale the City Council has set apart Saturday, April 5, as clean-up day in the City of Glendale. Upon that date it is expected that special attention will be given to cleaning up all rubbish that up to that time has escaped the notice of those who are careful to keep premises looking neat. At this time, also, it is expected that owners of vacant lots will visit such lots and see that all rubbish is cleared from them. A union of efforts on clean-up day will make Glendale, indeed, a clean city.

PROTECT TREES IN THIS CITY.

As evidence that the City Board of Trustees are anxious to preserve the trees in Glendale it is in place to call attention to the proceedings at a recent meeting of the council. A request was presented to the board from a property owner in the city, asking that he be granted the right to remove a large pepper tree that stands in the driveway lately established. The Board of Trustees voted to grant the property owner to remove the tree from the driveway, providing he would agree to plant another pepper tree near the place where the one is removed.

BEAUTIFUL SIGHT.

Monday morning as the clouds were clearing away after a refreshing shower at the foothills in Glendale, the sun was shining in all his glory, reflecting the light from the snow-covered mountain top. To those in the valley the sun had not yet appeared above the eastern horizon, but the mountain top was a panorama of beautiful light.

WOMAN'S CALL CLUB.

The Woman's Call Club of Eagle Rock, under the direction of Mrs. Ward Dutcher Hume, will give a third and last concert for the year at the Congregational church in Eagle Rock, Thursday evening, April 3, at 8 o'clock. At this concert the great artist is Brahms Vander Berg, who for the past week has been a guest in the Spencer Robinson home in Glendale. This noted piano artist comes here through the courtesy of Mrs. Hume.

OPINION OF NEW CHARTER.

Charles E. Stanley of Glendale, who is of the opinion that the new charter proposition was defeated at the recent election on account of two reasons, viz.: A misunderstanding of the question by the voters and a lack of interest by many well-meaning citizens, received a communication a few days ago relative to city charters, from the National Short Ballot organization of which President Woodrow Wilson is chairman, which reads as follows:

March 15, 1913.
Mr. Charles E. Stanley,
305 S. Glendale Ave.,
Glendale, Cal.

Dear Sir:—Yours of the 8th has been received, and I have gone over the proposed charter for Glendale in a general way. As an organization we cannot express an opinion on this document, but as an individual who makes somewhat of a specialty of charters, I will undertake to give you my candid views on this subject.

In a small town of not over 5,000 inhabitants, the election of councilmen by wards is amusing, to say the least. It creates artificial differences which play havoc in town affairs. In a big city, where election at large would mean an enormous constituency, there is a great deal to be said in favor of the ward system.

Your proposed charter does well to confer large powers upon the chief executive, and especially large powers of appointment. This is right in line with the principle of the responsibility which should control in any good organization. The proposed charter is flexible and it does not tie the hands of the council in matters of detail. These are also good points. Personally, I should like to have seen you employ the Whittier plan of having an appointive manager under the control of the council. As to the forty year franchise, I am not in a position to make a competent opinion. Apparently, so far as I have observed, the tendency seems to be toward rather shorter term franchises than was the case a few years ago. The number of petitioners required to effect a recall is unusually high, but perhaps in a small city where everybody knows everybody else, it will be possible to secure a number of petitioners equal to 40 per cent of those voting at the last election.

While the charter is in many respects far from ideal, and while I know nothing of your local problems and conditions, I should imagine that the proposed law would be a decided improvement over what you now have.

Yours very truly,

H. S. GILBERTSON.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CONTEST.

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, W. B. Kirk, has divided the membership into two divisions. Mayor T. W. Watson is the captain of one division, and M. P. Harrison of the First National Bank is the captain of the other division. These two sides will engage in a six weeks' contest, and the side securing the largest number of members for the Chamber of Commerce is to be banqueted by the opposition. The Watson slogan is "Join us." The Harrison slogan is "Boosters." The lineup is as follows:

IN HONOR OF BRIDE AND GROOM

Honored guests of a pleasant evening gathering at the home of Miss Vera Kimball of 124 Orange street on Monday evening, were Miss Frances Humphrey and Mr. Roy McDonald.

The receiving rooms were transformed into a spring bower, with boughs of golden acacia and garlands of greenery, making a pretty setting for the group of young people, happily passing the evening with jolly games and music. During the midst of the fun the doorbell rang and at the same instant the lights went out. The hostess answered the door and announced that an express package had arrived for the honor couple. Miss Humphrey was next seated in a chair and Mr. McDonald was asked to sit on the arm of the chair, while Miss Marion Henry softly sang a verse from one of Eugene Field's poems about a chair with an original couplet, at the end presenting the chair as a gift from the friends gathered about them to the bride couple. The lights were then flashed on to enable Miss Humphrey and Mr. McDonald to view their new possession. Guests were Miss Marion Henry, Miss Genevieve Ganaway, Miss Helen Wright, Miss Dorothy Lee, Miss Catherine Lennox of Van Nuys, Miss Gertrude Wilson, Miss Edna Learned, Mr. Paul Butterfield, Mr. Lloyd Wilson, Mr. Ralph Lusby, Mr. Raymond Lusby and Mr. John Kimball. Special guests were Mrs. J. F. Humphrey, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Rebecca McDonald, mother of the groom.

RECORDER WHOMES TO GO ABROAD.

Recorder J. Whomes of this city will leave about April 1st for an extended tour of England. While on the "little island" Mr. Whomes will make side trips throughout the island. He will pass several weeks at his old home town of Chislehurst, in the County of Kent. Our neighbor expects to tread the floors of the old home in which he was born. His ambition and fondest hope is to view the old scenes and to tramp once more along the paths and up the winding lanes where he traveled from the time he was able to walk until he reached the age of about twenty years. And it is very probable, on account of the slowly-changing customs of that country, that Mr. Whomes will be permitted to review the old pictures that he saw more than fifty years ago. They probably have the old dog still and it is possible that the Chislehurst section of the post office department is still located in the little shed next to the old grocery store. Mr. Whomes may be able to shake hands with the old town crier as he makes his rounds throughout the hours of the night. Glendale's recorder will also pass some time in Windsor, in Berkshire, and will make numerous trips to the northern section of England.

Mr. and Mrs. Whomes were married in England in March, 1863. At the close of the War of the Rebellion they came to the United States. They arrived in Los Angeles about thirty years ago and at that place they remained for about twenty years. During their stay in the Angel City Mr. Whomes was engaged in the decorating and wall paper business. Ten years ago they went to Redondo, where Mr. Whomes was recorder for three and a half years. Five years ago they came to Glendale, and for most of that time Recorder Whomes has occupied that official position in this city.

Mr. Whomes has served this city faithfully during his administration, and it is the wish of all that he shall occupy the recorder's chair for many moons to come.

PEOPLE'S CHORUS TO SING AT POPULAR CONCERT.

An interesting feature of the twenty-first concert to be given by the People's Orchestra at the Auditorium Theater is the selections from Tannhauser and Lohengrin, to be sung by the People's chorus. The chorus is made up of one hundred of the best voices of Los Angeles, and many of the members have won world-wide recognition. Those who take part in "The King's Prayer" (Lohengrin), are Mr. Anthony Carlson, solo; Quartette, Miss Helen B. Cooper, soprano; Mrs. L. J. Selby, contralto; Mr. G. Haydn Jones, tenor; Mr. Fred C. McPherson, baritone. "Prohibited Music" and "Vision of Nymphs" will be sung by the entire chorus.

Mozart's "Concerto for Clarinet" will be played by Mr. J. Raimondi, with orchestral accompaniment. "The Dance of the Hours," from "Glocondo," one of the most popular operas by Ponchielli, will be given by the orchestra, and "Puck," a comedy overture by Gustav Strube, will also be played.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

The election for Trustees for the Glendale Union High School and Glendale City Grammar School district will be held at the Glendale High School on Friday, April 4th. The polls will be open from 8 a. m. till sundown. Two Trustees to be elected for the High School and one for the Grammar School.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

President's address at annual meeting, March 21: Dear Comrades and Friends: As I hold in my hand this paper, written in unseemly haste and utter weariness, I cannot but compare the little in it with the much that I had planned. Another year has rolled around, and as we pass this plainly marked milestone it seems fitting to at least allude to the wonderful advance in thought, plan and execution in the last three decades. Thirty-five years is a great space in the life of a woman, but never before has the space of time been marked with such progress; never in all the history of the world has woman marched forward with so firm a tread and grasped with unflinching clasp the many trusts committed to her hands. It is true that upon the greatest enemy of the home the death sentence has not been pronounced, but this should in no wise discourage us.

The liquor question is a problem not easy of solution. Social prejudice, political purposes and even religious opinions enter into discussion. In the meantime the Woman's Christian Temperance Union goes bravely and steadily on educating "public sentiment" in every practical way and no other organization under the sun has so literally laid its molding, fashioning hand on the whole world. We clasp hands with every nation on the globe. Call to mind that little handful of women in the Chautauqua meeting who started out in the snow and sleet of the crusade days and the thousands of white ribbons (who grew out of that handful) all over the world today, with the same motto, the same watchwords, the same trusting time and the same divine impulse to lift the whole world to purity, righteousness and temperance. More and more we hear the clarion notes of victory as states and counties throughout our nation drive (Continued on Last Page)

Mr. Smith's brother, Chris Smith, resides at 9th street, Verdugo.

While taking part in the making of a moving picture in the Verdugo canyon Sunday afternoon three of the actors, Jack Hoxey, Bennie Corbett and Al Obern, were slightly injured by the premature explosion of one of the cannon used in the picture. The picture was the reproduction of the Boer war, where the English were attacking the Boers in one of their strongholds. Incidentally it might be mentioned that this was one of the largest motion pictures ever made in this section of the country, between three and four hundred people appearing in the play. It took all of Saturday and Sunday to complete this section of the picture. Saturday morning the progress of the actors was hindered by the light showers. The injured boys were taking the part of cowboys in the play. Immediately after the explosion Hoxey was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium, where he remained until Monday afternoon, when he was taken to his home.

The Bank of Glendale

Did you ever stop to think where all your money goes?
In one year you must pay out quite a sum for necessities. Perhaps you do not know it, but most people pay out quite a sum for things they do not need; for things they can do without.
If you had a checking account and paid every bill by check you would have a complete record of every cent you paid.

DAIRYMEN, ATTENTION!
I am forming an association of Dairymen to purchase a well-located tract of Alfalfa Land, where we can get together, raise our own alfalfa, and share mutually in the low cost of production, and avoid the middleman. We can own our land separately, but farm the same as a whole under contract labor. The money we save on the price of hay will pay for the land; and furthermore, the land will double in value as soon as it is seeded to Alfalfa. This land is cheap and the terms are reasonable. It is located on the railroad, the water system is developed and only costs 22 1/2 cents per acre per year. This, in my judgment, is the best opportunity yet presented whereby we may become owners of one of the best tracts of land in California for growing alfalfa. Especially at this time, when we know that the demand for dairy products is increasing and our feed supply decreasing. Write me today, if you are interested, and tell me how many tons of alfalfa hay you use each year. I want you to see this land and convince yourself that we can all make money by forming this association.

FRUIT GROWERS' DEPARTMENT

CUCUMBERS AND BEANS.
An Industry of This Valley That Pays Large Returns.

By Albert Marple.
Nestling close to the foothills of North Glendale is the hothouse owned by C. F. Hager. For the past two years Mr. Hager has been engaged in the cucumber and bean growing industry, it being the practice of this grower to bring the vegetables into bearing during the winter season or after the open-air beds of Southern California had ceased to bear and were lying unfruitful. By bringing these vegetables in during the "off season" Mr. Hager was able to command unusually high prices at the same time being able easily to dispose of his entire crop.

A feature of the cucumbers grown by this rancher was the immense size which they attained. Often they have been known to grow to be a yard in length and to weigh five pounds. As the owner of the houses put it, "He grows them by the yard." This was not the ordinary size, however, and, incidentally, these large cucumbers were not the ones which found the most ready sale. The best "payers" were those ranging in length about one foot and weighing about a pound. For these "selects" Mr. Hager tells us the prices ranged from $2.50 to $6 per dozen, with an average price of $5. There were two grades smaller, known as "firsts" and "seconds." The firsts averaged about ten inches in length, weighed about ten ounces and brought an average price of about $3, while the smaller-sized vegetables ranged in size from five to eight inches, were sold at prices ranging from $1 to $2 per dozen.

The houses owned by Mr. Hager are especially fitted for the raising of this vegetable. All of the three houses are entirely covered by glass roofs, and are 25x200 feet in size.
These roofs are slanting, just the same as ordinary roofs, and the ridge is about fifteen feet high. In each of the houses a system of hot-water heating is maintained. This system consists of pipes running under the beds and along the sides of the house with several running along either end, the sides of these pipes ranging from one and one-fourth to three and one-half inches in diameter. Connected to these pipes and what produces the "heat" is a large boiler apparatus, distillate being used as fuel. At the back end of the house is an equalizer, which maintains an equal pressure on the pipes, no matter how hot the water may be. There are three beds in each house, one running along either side and one along the center of the house for the entire length.

Mr. Hager claims that during the entire season, when two crops were raised, the three houses produced from four to six thousand dozen cucumbers, the being of the various sizes. It takes about ninety days for each crop to mature. The first crop is planted in September and these come on at about the holiday season.
No sooner are these taken than the second crop is planted, these being ready for the market about March, or just as the outside gardens are being planted. Mr. Hager tells us that in flavor the hot-house cucumbers are far superior to those grown in the open garden. These vegetables are grown from imported seed, the white spine being the main stock. The market for these vegetables, we are informed, is found in both San Francisco and Los Angeles, while many are purchased by the wealthier people of Pasadena. Mr. Hager deals direct with the storekeepers, thereby eliminating the middleman's profit.
And while we are on the subject of produce commission merchants may we quote Mr. Hager:

"I don't mind dealing with the commission merchants of San Francisco, but no dealings for me with the Los Angeles merchants. Not all of them are on the level. I prefer to take a little more trouble and deal direct with the storemen."

Seems like there might to advantage be a "cleaning day" in other sections than our little city.

In addition to cucumbers there were winter beans raised in these houses. These were planted between the cucumber plants and grew alongside and at the same time as the cucumbers. This, also, is a profitable crop when grown during the winter season. In this house are grown every year between two and two and a half tons of this vegetable. When it is considered that the average price received for these beans is about 40 cents per pound, wholesale, with this price sometimes jumping up to 50 cents per pound; it will be seen that these constitute a very profitable
"side line." These beans range in length from six to ten inches. They are strictly stringless and are of the Kentucky Wonder variety.

From one end of these houses to the other wires are strung. As the cucumbers and bean vines begin to grow he entwines around these wires and in the course of a few weeks they grow so large as to form an archway overhead from one of the beds to another. From this arch hang the large cucumbers and beans, creating an unusually interesting and pleasing picture.

Between the crops the beds are fertilized, both commercial and barnyard fertilizer being used. Mr. Hager states that the gross receipts of the North Glendale hothouses last year were more than $20,000.

SOIL UNDER TREES SHOULD BE CULTIVATED.

In an address before the Lemon
Men's club in Los Angeles, J. B. Lufman, a California citrus specialist, who has studied the citrus industry all over the world, spoke on the faults he found in fruit growing in California and gave some of his ideas as to remedies. He spoke mostly on the cultivation of the soil and pointed out what he thought were the defects of the California method.

Luffman insisted that the soil under the trees be cultivated instead of that between the trees. Under the trees, he said, is where most of the cultivation should be done. He does not believe in keeping the surface of the soil flat. It should be rough and exposed more to the air. At present growers believe in letting the soil be exposed to the air as little as possible. Not only should the soil be kept rough, urged the speaker, but the trees should be planted on ridges, so that they would be more exposed.

The temperature of the soil should never vary much during the year. As it is now, the extremes of the temperature of the soil are very great.
Luffman declared this could be remedied by careful cultivation.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES AT EXPO-SITION.

The seven Southern California counties, constituting the group first to arrange for a community exhibit at the San Diego Exposition in 1915, were also the first to begin actual construction of the building in which will be housed the splendid display from this division of the state.

Several months ago the drafted plans for the Southern California counties were accepted. Immediately the foundation thereof was put in place. Now the contract for the erection of the building has been placed,
and just as soon as the contractor can get material on the ground the rearing of the structure will begin.

The outdoor display of the seven southern counties, in part already planted, is thriving nicely. Great beams are arriving on the exposition grounds now, expediting the work of buildings, this material coming from the north in ships. The Simpson company promises immediate activities upon the southern counties building, and the activities of its workmen will be added to those of the regular exposition forces soon.
It is probable that the southern counties building will be the first exhibit structure on the entire grounds to be completed and ready for use.

CITRUS GROWERS SHOULD BOOST.

Representing the California Fruit Growers' Exchange and the ranchers of every description in Southern California, G. Harold Powell left on Tuesday for Sacramento to appear at a joint meeting of the ways and means and the finance committees of the legislature in an effort to obtain a suitable appropriation for the establishment of an agricultural school and experiment station in Southern California, says the Fruit World.

If successful, more than $200,000 will be expended in Los Angeles during the next two years and a school and laboratory established in which experiments of various kinds can be studied with a view to preventing such disasters as the recent frost and working for the betterment of the Southern California farmer.

At present there are four bills before the state legislature which interlap in their value to the establishment of the school.

Senate bill No. 370 provides for $814,360 to be allotted to run the agricultural department of the state university. Of this amount, the bill specifies $157,000 is to be set aside for the maintenance and equipment of schools in Southern California.

Senate bill No. 25 provides $100,- 000 for the equipment and construction of a laboratory in this territory.

Senate bill No. 307 provides that $60,000 shall be set aside for the purchase of land suitable for agricultural enterprises under the direction of the state.

Senate bill No. 51 provides for $25,000 for the construction of a residence and the care of the grounds purchased if senate bill No. 307 carries.

Manager Powell is optimistic as to the outlook for the four bills. He said today that all of them should pass and that the amounts specified should not be cut by the committee.
He believes that it is essential that the state immediately open a school here for the study of the needs of the fruit growers and other agriculturists of this section.

In view of the severe blow dealt the industry in the recent frost, he said no one could be so shortsighted that they would fail to see the necessity of the school—the laboratory and the experiment station, all of which are provided for in the four bills.

The conditions confronting President Wilson as he enters upon his executive duties are somewhat similar to those which confront a tramp who calls at a farmer's house for a bite to eat and finds a bucksaw and ten cords of uncut wood waiting for him.

West Glendale

Mr. and Mrs. Hackett, who have been living for some time at 1509
Hawthorne street, have gone to Long Beach, where they will take charge of a large rooming house.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Berkeley are visiting their daughter, Mrs. E. L.
Adams of 1501 Ivy street. Mr.
Smith is a leading contractor and builder of Berkeley.

Mrs. Hunter of Los Angeles is building a very artistic home at the corner of Remington and First streets for her granddaughter, who is now in Tampa, Florida, with her husband and children. The house will be furnished completely throughout and ready for the family to step into upon their arrival in Glendale.
Mrs. Hunter, who with her husband is well known to the old timers of Los Angeles, having lived in the city for over thirty-eight years, and for a number of years the proprietor of the leading restaurant there, has purchased a lot at the corner of Central avenue and First street, and will build a home for herself.

Mr. Hubert Wilkin of the Bungal-ow Grocery returned Thursday from San Francisco, where he has been spending the past week.

The boys' class of the Congregational church gave a very successful social at the church recently, and with the money taken in will buy flags for the church.

Mrs. Schaffer and children of Pasadena are visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. Frank Patch.

Mr. G. B. Coney, a prominent business man of Akron, Ohio, was in Glendale recently, visiting friends.

Mr. Bert Sands, 1509 Ivy street, who with his parents will move into his new home on Burchett and Remington streets, shortly, is quite a pigeon fancier. Before coming to Glendale from Philadelphia he had a great number of fine-blooded homer pigeons, which he used to enter in races. These pigeons he imported from Belgium and other foreign countries. He will have them shipped to Glendale in a short time, and would be very glad to meet with any one interested in the same.

It is a happy lot of people that go to make up the population of our city, but about the happiest of all just at the present, are Mr. and Mrs.
Will Turner of Belmont street, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flower of Brand boulevard; and the reason for all this is that on Easter morning, about seven o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Turner heard the flapping of the old stork's wings at their door, and when he was admitted he had for them a fine baby boy. Now, when Mr. Flower heard of this, he and his wife became jealous and made threats galore against the noble bird; so, as quick as he could be up and away, he found for them a dainty little girl baby, and all was forgiven. All parties concerned doing fine; but the two papas were obliged to go to work bareheaded. (Anyone having two hats of the out-size variety, take pity on them.)

PRESIDENT'S SALARY CHECK.

The salary of the President of the United States is larger now than it used to be. When Cleveland was President, the salary was $4,166.66 2-3 a month. Frederic Haskin says in his book, "The American Government," that so accurate was the bookkeeping system of the treasury department that the President received a check with the 66 cents one month and 67 cents the next two months. At the end of the term it was found that the government owed him the sum of one cent and a check for that amount was drawn in his favor. It has never been cashed but is one of the souven-

We desire to state to the good people of Glendale, Tropico and surrounding country that we have recently opened up a Real Estate Office in the Mission Building, on the corner of Third street and Brand boulevard, in the City of Glendale, and while we are recently from Kentucky and are strangers to a majority of the population here, we cordially invite all who have Houses, Lots, Acreage, Stocks of Merchandise, or in fact anything for sale, to list with us, and an earnest effort will be promptly made to render efficient service.

ton, N. J. But if the check has not been cashed, what has happened to the bookkeeping of the treasury? Is that check still being carried along in the balance sheets?

RANKS FIRST SEVEN TIMES.

An authentic statement from Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, says in 1910 Los Angeles County, in competition with 58 counties in California, ranked number one in the production of seven important articles, as follows:

First in value of farm property,
$199,998,200.

First in value of all crops, $14,- 720,884.

First in value of fruit and nuts,
$6,731,532.

First in value of hay and forage,
$3,430,698.

First in value of dairy products,
$1,415,144.

First in number of bearing lemon trees, 219,149.

First in sugar beet production,
162,059 tons.

COMMERCIAL SIDE OF WAR.

Modern students of history see that all wars have been at bottom a struggle to adjust commercial conditions and relations. While one might be slow to admit that no wars have been stirred by a higher idea of human freedom than this, it is clear that in all the bickerings that precede and stir dissensions between nations and even in civil contests this question of material prosperity, the freedom to pursue trade under various forms to as great advantage as possible, has played an important part. Of course an ideal of freedom is back of the human demand to be allowed to pursue trade and commerce unhindered, but it is easy to see that those who really hold a high ideal of right must be very slow to go to war on any pretext whatsoever. It certainly diminishes the fancied glories of war to see them a mere selfish contest for material prosperity.

NOTICE INVITING STREET WORK PROPOSALS.

Pursuant to Statute and to Resolution No. 567 of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, California, adopted the 17th day of March, 1913, directing this notice, the undersigned invites and will receive at his office, in the City Hall, 575 West Broadway, near Glendale Avenue, up to 7:30 p. m. of Monday, the 31st day of March, 1913, sealed proposals or bids for the following street work to be done according to the specifications and plans adopted for the said work, on file, to-wit:

The work on Central Avenue, described in Section 1 of Resolution No. 531 of the City of Glendale, to which said Resolution reference is hereby made for a description of said work; specifications Nos. 11, 12, 15 and 16, referred to in said description, are on file in the office of the City Clerk, also posted near the chamber door of the Board of Trustees.

Sec. 2. The Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale determines that serial bonds shall be issued to represent assessments of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) or over for the cost of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall be extended over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable, by coupon, on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually, by coupon, on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year, at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest are paid. Said bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to provide a system of street improvement bonds to represent certain assessments for the cost of street work and improvement within municipalities, and also for the payment of such bonds," approved February 27th, 1893, and of all acts supplementary thereto or amendatory thereof.

Bidders must file with each proposal or bid, a check payable to the order of the President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, certified by a responsible bank, for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent. of the aggregate of the proposal, or a bond for the said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties, who shall justify before any officer competent to administer oaths, for double the said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions. In bidding use blanks which will be furnished by the City Clerk upon application.

IN DANGER.

A new recruit stood at the wharf watching a river boat at Cincinnati being loaded with supplies for Nashville. It was scarcely above the water's edge. He exclaimed:

"Upon my soul, if the river was a bit higher the boat would go to the bottom."

Tropico Notes

The fourth quarterly conference of the Tropico Methodist church was held in the church Monday night. Reports from all departments show that the church is in a fairly prosperous financial condition.

The regular Easter service was held at the Tropico Methodist church last Sunday morning. For the occasion the edifice had been prettily decorated with flowers, palms and other greenery, this work being done by the younger classes of the church, overseen by several larger scholars. The program, given by the children of the Sunday school, was without doubt the finest of its kind ever held in this church, and was witnessed by an audience which filled the house. The "Peace on Earth" spirit was evidenced throughout the entire service, this being manifest in the manner in which the congregation took part in the singing of the hymns.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church of this place gave a social at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Henry Goodsell on Palmer avenue, last Friday evening. The affair was in the form of a lawn fete, the lawn being illuminated by a number of Japanese lanterns that were strung overhead. The affair was attended by a large number of the members of the church as well as a number of friends, and the evening proved to be enjoyable and profitable.

The improvement work of Parke avenue has started with a vengeance. For the past several weeks loads of gravel, sand and rock have been hauled from different sections and dumped on the street, making travel on that thoroughfare quite difficult. Nothing was done as far as the improvement work was concerned until Tuesday morning, when teams and plows were set to work and the tearing up of the street was begun. At the present time the street is impassable and will probably remain so for several weeks.

Joseph Marple of 149 Palmer avenue, has been honored by being made president of the Student Body association of the Los Angeles College of Osteopathy, in which he is just now concluding a three-years' course of study. It is Mr. Marple's intention upon the completion of his course in this school to go to Europe, where he will continue his study for at least a year, during which time he will devote his time to the study of surgery and kindred subjects.

An open meeting was enjoyed by the Knights of Pythias lodge of this place in the lodge's place of meeting in the Gabaga block on the San Fernando road, Monday evening. The feature of the evening was the "big feed," which proved to be one of the sort for which the members of this organization are noted. The affair was attended by at least two hundred of the residents of this city and Glendale. Games and music were enjoyed during the evening and there was a good program rendered. The entire affair was under the direction of Mr. Cressey, while the "eat-in" was taken charge of by B. F. Cook. As was expressed by one of the guests after the close of the evening, "These open meetings don't come often, but when they do come they sure are all to the good."

Miss Emily Ellis of this place, was honored by being chosen as bridesmaid to Miss Pearl Goode of Glendale, who was united in marriage to Will Livingston, also of that city, the affair taking place Monday evening. This wedding was one of the leading society events of this social season. Mr. and Mrs. Livingston will live in Glendale.

After a visit of several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Wilson of 515 Acacia avenue, Mrs. Glen Wilson and son have returned to their home in Sacramento. It will be remembered that Mr. Glen Wilson was formerly an active worker in the Tropico Methodist church of this place, this being some seven years ago.

A new home at 124 San Fernando road has just been taken possession of by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hoffman, recently of Covina.

The Salyer Piano company is putting the next-to-the-finish touches on the company's new factory on the western side of this city, just east of the Southern Pacific tracks. They expect to take charge in something like a month.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bennett, 418 North Central avenue, Mrs. Imogene Goodwin was married to Earl Lester Wisdon, a prominent young lawyer of Los Angeles. The ceremony took place on March 17th and was performed by Rev. W. C. Carnes, pastor of the Methodist church of this place. After a bridal tour of several weeks in Riverside county, Mr. and Mrs. Wisdon will be at home to their many friends at Venice-by-the-Sea.

A pretty affair was the sewing party given by Miss Mable Evans at her home, 619 Central avenue, recently. The guests included Miss Stella Miller, Miss Luella Moore, Miss Katherine Hobbs, Miss Dorothy Hobbs, Miss Blanche Shea, Miss Mary Jane Evans and Miss Elise Vance.

On Monday evening of last week Miss Marjorie Stevens and Horace E. Letten were married by Rev. Henry Goodsell. Only relatives of the young couple were present. Mr. and Mrs. Letten will make their home at 724 Moore avenue.

Rev. Henry Goodsell, chairman of the building committee of the First Methodist church of this place, stated this week that it is the intention of the church authorities to erect a structure in the near future that will cost something like $10,000. The

At No. 417 Brand Boulevard, Parker & Sternberg Block, may be found the very latest addition to the business of our fast growing city. On Friday, Nov. 1st, the doors of the large storeroom were thrown open and the public permitted to view the very extensive display of furniture and general household furnishings with which the room was packed, the goods having been several days in arriving and unpacking.

To say that visitors were much surprised at the magnitude and variety of the display is a modest statement of the facts, for it could be seen at a glance that it was the purpose of the proprietors to furnish everything needed in fitting out mansion or cottage, from basement to garret, with everything needed in the furniture line, and up to date in pattern and style. Elegant extension tables, round and square patterns; Chairs, Rockers and Dinners, the very latest in style, and variety of finish and in dark or light colors; Bureaus, Bedsteads, Lounges, Bedding, Mattresses, Pillows, Blankets, and a large display of elegant Rugs.

Visitors are respectfully invited to examine this stock, which is fresh and new, and worth looking at, whether you buy or not. It will cost nothing to examine and moderate prices will dominate in every article sold. Remember the Number—417 Brand Boulevard.

boosters of this improvement claim that the new house of worship will be something of which this city may be proud, and it is probable that all will be given an opportunity to do their share in its erection.

LIGHTING COMPANY GETS FRANCHISE.

The trustees of this city have given to the Pacific Light and Power company a franchise to construct and maintain an electric lighting system in this city for a period of forty years. It will be remembered that this company was given permission by the State Railway commission to purchase the old plant of the Glendale Light and Power company, and to enlarge on this place sufficient to furnish lights to all sections of the city of Tropico. The maximum charge which the lighting company is permitted to make is $1.00 for the first 10 kilowatt hours, with 8 cents per kilowatt hour additional. It has also been agreed by the company to meet any reduction made by the municipal plant of the city of Glendale.

TROPICO GETS BIG BLOCK.

It has been reported at this place that within a very few weeks work will be started by the Pacific Home Builders, who are operating on a large scale in this section of the valley, on a business block to cost something like $48,000. This block will contain six or seven store rooms and will be located on the Pacific Electric railway at the corner of Brand boulevard and Railroad street, this being in the company's latest subdivision, The Angelas tract. This is only a starter. Watch that section grow, and then—watch it continue to grow!

TROPICO WANTS FIRE PROTECTION.

At an election held at Tropico last Thursday the residents of that place gave evidence, by their votes, that they are not satisfied with the present fire-fighting apparatus of that place, and by a vote of 218 to 71 decided to improve this condition. The bonds voted totaled $25,000, and were divided as follows: Fire apparatus, $12,000; fire house and lot, $9,000; fire plugs, $4,000.

It will be seen that there was not a great amount of interest in the election, there being a total vote of 289 out of a possible 800. The East Siders who are in favor of securing this much-needed improvement failed to turn out, and as a result that section gave the proposition only enough votes sufficient to carry the bonds, a two-thirds vote being necessary. The vote in the east side was 78 for and 52 against the proposition, while the west side total was 140 for the bonds and 19 against.

THE CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

J. F. Humphrey, Minister.
Services Sunday, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. At the morning hour, before the regular sermon, the pastor will preach another sermon to the boys and girls on the "Cigarette," illustrated with a cigarette and chemicals. The boys and girls say these sermons are fine. All boys and girls invited. If the pastor can secure the slides, he will give a stereopticon lecture on "Burma" at the evening hour. If they cannot be secured the evening subject will be, "Why All People Do Not Become Christians." The preliminary talk in the series on "The Social Creed of the Church" will be, "The Abolition of Child Labor."

Dr. Soper will lead the class meeting, 12 m.

Epworth League subject, "The Sheep of the Other Folds; Miss Soper leader.

"Growing Hatred to Jesus" is the prayer meeting subject for Wednesday night.

Last Sunday was a very interesting day for the members of the church. Overflowing congregations both morning and night. At the morning hour three infants were baptized and eight united with the church. The song service was unusually fine in the evening.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Regular services next Sunday. Preaching by the pastor both morning and evening. Morning worship, 11 o'clock. Sunday school, 9:45. Junior and Intermediate Endeavor, 3 p. m. C. E. meeting, 6:30. Evening service, 7:30. Stereopticon address on the "Life and Times of David Livingstone."

Monday evening, 7:30, Bible Study League. Prayermeeting Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. Thursday evening, 7:30, choir rehearsal, under direction of Prof. Peckham.

April 2, annual meeting of the church and congregation. Picnic dinner will be served at 6:30. Business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock. Reports from all departments, election of officers, and other important business will be transacted.

Sunday, April 13, regular quarterly communion service, and reception of new members, on confession of faith, and by letter. The present corrected membership list shows 305.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The pastor and family are located in their new home, 231 Orange street. Their phone number is 918-R. The pastor speaks at both services.

morning topic, "Christ as a Guest;" evening subject, "Christ After the Resurrection."

Beginning Sunday, April 6, special services for one week will be held. Rev. Dr. Kennigott of Los Angeles will assist the pastor.

The newly organized choir, under the efficient leadership of Miss Van Osdel, is furnishing some splendid music.

The services Easter Sunday were all largely attended. The ordinance of baptism was administered; five new members were received; the Lord's Supper was celebrated.

The music was of a specially high order. The solos by Mrs. Newlin and Mr. Jeffers were greatly enjoyed.

The evening program, in which many members of the Sunday-school took part, was well carried out and much enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience.

FIRST ENGLISH EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH.

L. O. O. F. Hall, Opposite City Hall, Sunday, March 30.

Bible School, 10 a. m.; church services, 11 a. m. The Lord's Supper will be observed. Sermon by Rev. Wm. E. Crouser, D. D., Missionary Superintendent of the Pacific Coast. Reception of members, baptism of adults and children, restoration to membership.

Christian Endeavor, 6:30 p. m. Vesper sermon, 7:30 p. m.

Easter was a delightful occasion and very heartily enjoyed, especially the parts by the Primary Department—the beautiful innocence of sweet childhood—witnessing for Jesus, the risen, triumphant Lord. The attendance and offerings for all four services of the day were good. Individuals who have no church home will always find "a most heavenly welcome."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Third Street Near Brand. Large congregations and fine music were characteristic of the services last Sunday. Rev. Mr. Walker of Hollywood preached in the evening in the absence of the pastor, who has been conducting a two-weeks' evangelistic campaign in Sacramento.

All the regular services will be held next Sunday as usual. Sunday school 9:30 a. m. Preaching by the pastor at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Young People's meeting, 6:30 p. m. Everybody is invited.

M. E. CHURCH, CASO VERDUGO.

Under the wise management of the L. A. S. a most delightful evening was passed on last Friday evening. M. W. Walton of West Glendale entertained most excellently. He won his way to the high regard of all who heard him. The social hour was much enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Easter Sunday was a day long to be remembered.

The pastor will preach morning and evening at 11:00 and 7:30 o'clock. All are invited. Sabbath school at 9:45. The school is doing well, the crusade for pennies is well started, more than 2,000 have been received and we have until September 15th to make the mile.

WEST GLENDALE M. E. CHURCH.

Pacific avenue, near Fifth Street. Rev. Maurice R. Walton, Pastor.

Sunday school—9:45.

Morning worship—11:00.

Epworth League—6:30.

Everybody's meeting—7:30.

Appropriate services were held on Easter Sunday, and many expressed themselves as this being the greatest day in the history of the church. In the morning, after a most instructive and interesting sermon by the pastor, a missionary offering of over $160 was taken. Rev. Walton spoke in the evening on "Immortality" from the standpoint of recent scientific research, showing doctrine to be reasonable, scientific and scriptural. Choice music was furnished by the choir with several duets and solos. Miss Spencer was organist, with Miss Frances Payne as violinist and Mr. McArthur and one other, as cornetists.

The Sunday school gave a special Easter program at 10 a. m. at the close of which Rev. Walton baptized three babies.

Next Sunday the pastor's subject will be: Morning, "Passing Through the Valley of Baca;" evening, "Don't Lose Your Grip"—the story of a man who lost everything but his courage—and who won.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Glendale M. E. church will hold a meeting at the chapel Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

PRESBYTERIAN AID.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church of Glendale will be held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The ladies of the church are urged to be present and help plan for the coming annual meeting. Sec'y.

BIBLE STUDENTS.

Next Sunday afternoon the Bible Students will meet at 418 Kenwood street. The subject under discussion will be, "The Man, Christ Jesus." All are cordially invited. Free to all. Bring your Bibles.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

(Continued from Editorial Page) the demon drink away. The breweries and whisky crowds are very much agitated over the results to their business. In the present statewide prohibition campaign of West Virginia the liquor forces spent their millions to defeat the election and our White Ribboners, with a few thousand and with God on their side gained the victory. In our county we have five wet cities, one of them embracing the majority in population of the county, yet all the surrounding dry cities like Glendale, the Jewel City of all the county, is seriously hampered by its alluring our young men and women away to places of vice. We pray for a speedy clean-up of Los Angeles.

Our organization was founded upon principles that can stand and endure, and with all the strength of my being I am determined to help in every way possible, as I have in the past, to keep Glendale free; also my county and state and nation. The Governor of Prohibition Mississippi says: "I won't pardon anyone for selling liquor; there is less excuse for violating this law than any other, and I am determined to break it up." Our chief executive, President Wilson, has founded a new form of example for the nation in excluding all intoxicants from the table, of which we are justly proud. Uppermost in my heart at this time is my great thankfulness to my Savior, who has made it possible for me to do the work in the past, for six years attending everything our society has had anything to do with, with the exception of three regular meetings missed when ill, and my great appreciation of all the true, faithful comrades who have worked so willingly to make the work easier for me to carry. Thanking you for all kindnesses, we close the year, having done the best we could.

MRS. HATTIE E. GAYLORD,

President.

The annual all-day meeting the 21st was well attended, 28 being present. About twenty took part at lunch time, which was a social time indeed. Mrs. Lucy S. Blanchard, state president, presided during the election in her own able manner. Mrs. E. Norine Law, national lecturer and an old-time friend of Mrs. Gaylord when both were young in the work in Detroit, Mich., was present and rendered several selections of song from her song book. The election of officers resulted in the following: President, Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord; recording secretary, Mrs. G. B. Morton; treasurer, Mrs. Kate L. Evans. Reports from the president, secretary and treasurer showed much good work done and $278.45 raised during the year just closed. We go forth with renewed energy to plan for the county convention to be held in the Presbyterian church April 23-24-25, when we expect 200 delegates. The next meeting will be held April 4 at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. J. C. Colvin, 217 East First street. Mrs. Gleason, state superintendent of parliamentary usage, will be present. Come and bring a friend.

THE MEN BEHIND US.

Study the names—it's from a man's past that you forecast his future. Then what of the future of these men? They're the type who master circumstance, compel success. Join them and share in their prosperity. It's a partnership pure and simple.

THE POINT AT ISSUE.

Do you believe in the future of Southern California? That's the real point at issue. If you do, join us and get your share of the profits to be gained from the growth of this community.

Why Join a New Development Company When There Are So Many Long Established Concerns in Operation?

Our Officers and Directors

A very natural question—and one that's easy to answer. Suppose you pay $1.50 per share for the stock of a company whose stock originally sold at 50c. Do you realize that the man who paid 50c per share receives exactly the same proportion of the company's earnings as you do? In other words, if his investment pays him 15 per cent per annum yours pays you only 5 per cent. Looks as though you were paying a pretty stiff price for mere

You Are Paying Exactly the Same Price Paid by the Original Organizers

Another point: We shall not restrict ourselves to home-building—we shall deal in farm land and acreage, down-town leases, develop industrial sites—in short, operate in any branch of the Southern California realty field in which we see a profit.

Note these vital points—not a dollar of promotion stock has been issued—not a cent's worth of stock has been sold for less than it's now offered you—50c per share—no real estate has been traded for real estate—not

"good will," doesn't it? And you can't buy the stock of any long-established local company without paying this heavy premium for "goodwill."

Understand us: we don't recommend the stock of all new investment companies. But we do make the plain, bald, unequivocal assertion that the stock in a new company, which is ably and honestly managed, is a far better investment than that of a long-established concern. And your

But the point we want to drive home and copper rivet, Mr. Investor, is the fact that if you buy our stock at today's price, 50c per share, 50c is limited—the price will soon advance. Join us now—don't wait until you have to pay $1.00. Come in and investigate; go over our books; post yourself thoroughly on every last detail—then buy. Write for our handsome booklet, "The Proclamation"—it's free.
